THEME

What is Weber? It is a student dancing at a sock hop, a quarterback throwing a pass, a teacher delivering a lecture, a Weberite solving an equation; it is, in short, the sum of people, life, and education.

The substance of Weber is people—everyone who walks its halls. These people, the faculty and the student body, collectively create and maintain the atmosphere of intellectual growth common to Weber. Considered individually, each faculty member, each student, enters into a communion with his school; each alters the structure of Weber just as Weber invariably modifies the personality of each.

Weber is both a way of life and a preparation for life, a community in which teachers and students live and work together. The freshman soon finds himself entangled in a world of classrooms, activities, work, and fun. Years later he will be a senior, disciplined and matured, who, after preparation in the Weber community, will be equipped to embrace the life awaiting him. Throughout his life, he will remain a part of Weber, and Weber a part of him.

Weber, as a school, exists that it might educate young minds and build men. A Weber education consists of the dissemination of knowledge, knowledge of the world and of God, coupled with the idea that static knowledge is trivial compared to the ability to think. This is an education which stresses living knowledge and correct thought in teaching the Weberite to learn, to participate, to compete, and to live.

The Congregation opens the door to this building; its first in the United States.

DEDICATION

In certain years dedicating a school's yearbook becomes a painstakingly ardous task. Without fail there is always some person or some group that has contributed heavily to the development of the school. However, more often than not, such contributions are made by many different persons or groups. Now arises the problem of determining which person or group is more deserving of formal public recognition that the other. It is at these times that the decision becomes an exceedingly difficult one to make, and, oftentimes, once it has been made, proves to be an unpopular one.

On the other hand certain situations arise that make the choice singularly simple. Such a situation exists this year. Throughout 1966 the Congregation of the Resurrection will be celebrating 100 years of achievement, preaching, and teaching in the United States of America.

The story of the Congregation in the United States is one of sacrifice and dedication, hardship and success, truth and charity. It all began in Texas - the year 1866.

In the Diocese of Galveston, Texas, shepherded by Bishop Claude Dubuis, existed a colony of Catholic European immigrants who were, since 1863, without the services of a Catholic priest. Bishop Dubuis gravely concerned about the spiritual plight of this sizeable portion of his flock, found it possible, with the culmination of the American Civil War, to journey to Europe to seek aid in solving this most dire dilemma. Speaking with officials of the Congregation of the Resurrection in Rome, the Bishop was extremely gratified by the quick and favorable response. Before the year would end, thousands of Catholics living far from their original homes would again find that active participation in their faith would be a reality.

Three men, two priests and a cleric, came to the United States from Europe, and for the first time, the Congregation of the Resurrection began God's work in this, our country. No time was wasted as they set out to revitalize the spiritually impoverished communities to which they were assigned. Their enthusiasm in their work was to be reflected by the response of the community members. In a short time the Church was restored to a central position in the lives of these Texanized Catholic Europeans.

Although the people met the missionaries with open arms, the road ahead was not devoid of pitfalls. At one time or another, the priests were to fight the lethargy of their parishoners, the rise of atheism in local public schools, and the ever present lack of sufficient financial resources. With the battles came success, and throughout the diocese arose churches and schools carrying the imprint of the Congregation of the Resurrection.

From this humble beginning the Congregation was to spread its service, its wisdom, its knowledge, and its faith to other sections of this great country where the zeal of these devoted men was to benefit many. Weber High School was the result of the early reaping of the fruits of the work of these pioneers. In 1890 Fr. Vincent C.R., one of these first missionaries, founded our school.

This has been but a portion of a story that we know is continuing today. Surely, we the students of Weber must feel this way. As we walk the halls, sit in the classrooms, and seek the knowledge awaiting our probing minds, we cannot help but feel a sensitive gratitude for those first missionaries and for those that have continued the work that was begun one-hundred years ago.

We would be extraordinarily remiss if we had failed to relate this story of courage and dedication in this most note worthy anniversary year. Therefore it is with the greatest pride that we the members of the DOLPHIN staff in the name of the entire student body dedicate this 1966 yearbook to the men, priests and brothers of the Congregation of the Resurrection.

Rev. Felix, first C. R. ordained in the United States.

Rev. Adolph C. R., Vicar General under Bishop Dubuis in Texas.

Fr. Vincent C. R., Founder of Weber High School.

Reverend George Jendrach, C.R.

PRINCIPAL

The Reverend George Jendrach, in his sixth year as Principal of Weber High School, has done much more than guide Weber through a scholastic year, a noteworthy achievement in itself. He has extended and improved Weber, utilizing the finest traditions of the past and the innovations of the present in modernizing the school. Although the intricacies of the operation of Weber absorb a tremendous amount of time, Father George always has a few moments for a student with a problem, for his primary concern is the Christian education and spiritual growth of each student. As administrator, teacher, disciplinarian, and friend, Father George has become a part of the life of each Weberite; and, as such, he is an integral part of Weber.

In commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination, Rev. Edwin Bak is given a silver apple by Father George.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

Serving his alma mater as Assistant Principal, Father Chester Mitoraj is a very dedicated and extremely busy man. His time is occupied with the many and varied duties of the Assistant Principal and with the teaching of American history. Devoting a great deal of energy to the senior class, Father assumes the roles of Senior Social Committee Moderator and Senior Division Prefect during his after school hours. In addition, Father Chester, making full use of his talents, operates the Weber Foundation.

LATIN

"The study of the classics - Latin and Greek - is very basic to an individual's understanding of precisely who and what he is as a person - and to what great heights he may aspire."
Mr. Robert De Cesare

"For two thousand years Latin has been, as it is today, the keystone to all languages."
Rev. John Bujalski

"Latin, to me, is not a dead language. It gives me a thrill to watch the progress students are making in learning the languages of Caesar, Cicero, and Virgil, and to know that the training students receive in this language here at Weber will prepare them to make studies and readings of Roman authors."
Rev. Edward Janas

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

"Physical education is an academic aid in the sense that it develops mental alertness. It is a co-curricular activity in the sense that it develops a keen interest in a diversified recreation program."

Mr. Ronald Dianovsky

"The primary aim in teaching physical education is to coordinate the body with the mind."

Mr. John Dykal

"To appreciate the value of physical education is to know the needs of the adolescent boy. It is not the mind alone which we should seek to develop, but also the body; for, the well-conditioned mind deserves a well-conditioned body."

TO PARTICIPATE

Mr. Marvin Stolarz, moderator of the Dolphin, with editors W. Kolbusz and C. Marzec.

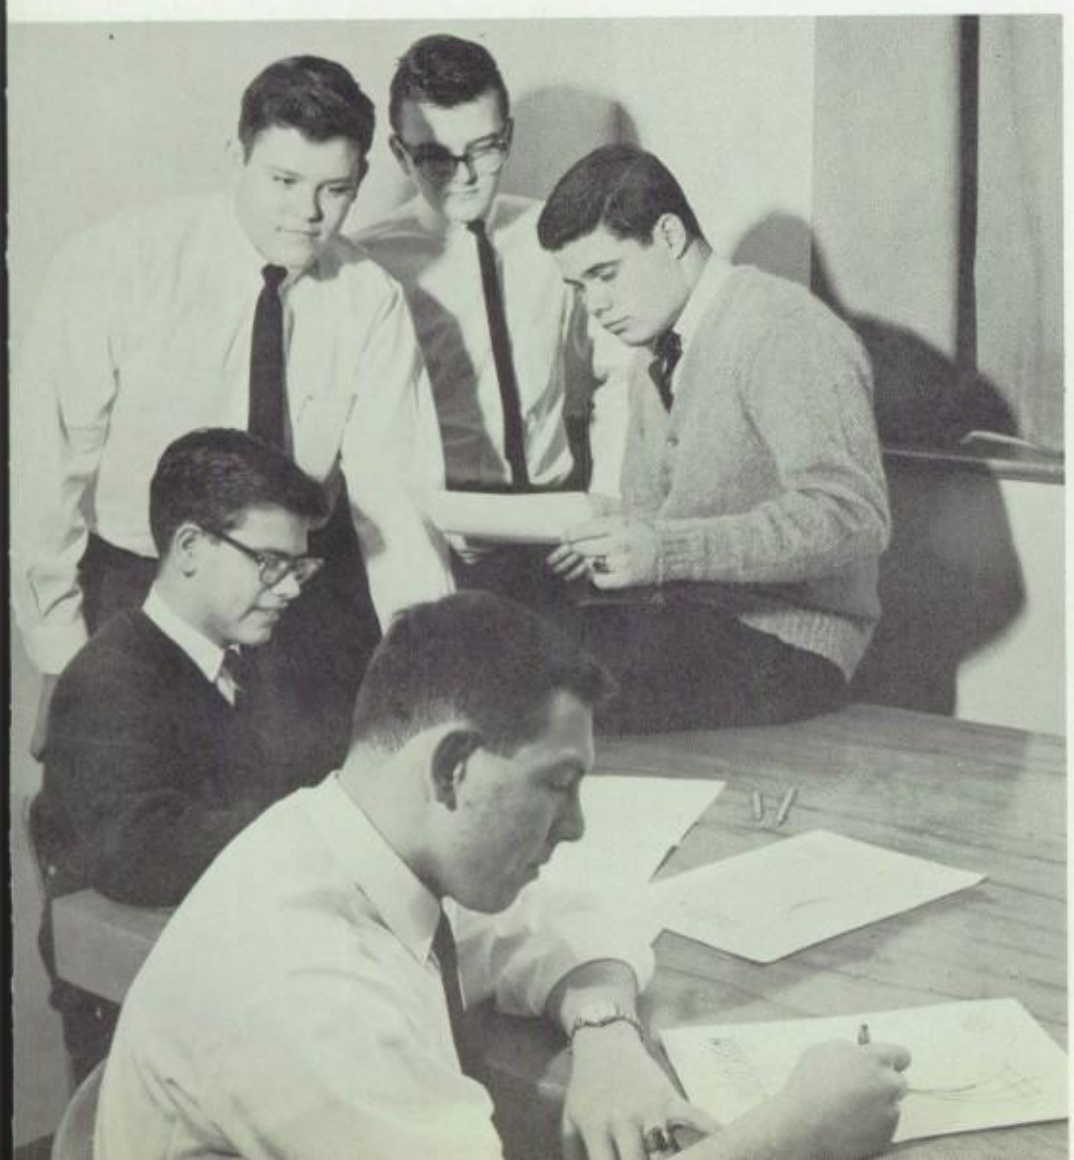
DOLPHIN

An active organization is the DOLPHIN, whose purpose is to preserve and re-create the events and attitudes of a school year, to record history and to carry on traditions. Convening in fall and adjourning spring, Weber's yearbook staff produces in the interim a book which portrays a year in the life of Weber.

Dolphin Staff: T. Lachajczyk, E. Adamski, D. Jung, T. Sobarnia, R. Woods, S. Nowicki.

M. Markowski, K. Kozak, P. Shea.



seated: J. Wysocki, F. Scotello; standing; X. Ciskowski, J. Krock, J. Gasparo.

WEBER NEWS

As the chronicle of the day-to-day life of Weber High, the Weber News records and capsulizes the happenings of the school and its students. Each of its sections, from news to sports, is designed to appeal to both the serious and humorous side of all Weberites.

The big three of the Weber News: R. Del Ciello and R. Panek, Editors; Mr. G. Williams, Moderator.

Weber News editorial board: P. Dirkes, J. Parrillo, D. Dunne, J. Aniolowski, L. Westermeier, J. Garbossa.

Weber News Reporters: seated; M. Chrobak, T. Zochowski, T. Kowalski, G. Potempa, G. Wold, D. Trifilio; standing; J. Pasek, R. Serpetis, A. Castan, J. Dylong, T. Jakubowski, M. Markowski, K. Kozak.

W. Kolbusz, Fr. Casey, and R. Del Ciello grind out the Weber News.

PRINT SHOP

For many years the print shop has been one of the main spokes in the production wheel of each issue of the Weber News. Recently, outstanding technical knowledge combined with more modern equipment has enabled the print shop to branch out into the production of virtually all the printed matter used by the school and its many activities and organizations.

Fr. Casey in hts natural habitat.

K. Kozak and J. Gasparo make themselves useful.

Sanctuary Society: Rev. Edwin Zygmunt (Moderator), L. Antosz, E. Chrabaszcz, R. Brayer, P. Zurawski, D. Bukovec, T. Kobeszko, T. Lachajczyk, S. Kroll, T. Kowalski.

SANCTUARY SOCIETY

The members of the Acolyte Society afford our student body its closest link with the Sacrifice of Calvary. Every morning in the school chapel, every Friday at Student Mass, and at all other religious ceremonies at Weber, the acolytes sacrifice of themselves that they might better serve God and their school.

At each offering of the Holy Mass at Weber, a member of the Commentators leads his fellow students to a greater participation in the New Liturgy. Only one year old, this organization has earned an irrefutable position among the co-curricular activities at Weber.

Commentators: M. Oskroba, W. Morman and T. Morman.

COMMENTATORS

Commentators: seated are P. Szady, F. Scotello, and L. Antosz. standing are R. Del Ciello, W. Kowalski, R. Fiori, L. Westermeier, and J. Zielinski.

Some of the 850 Apostleship of Prayer members at Weber: seated are R. Dudek, W. Killian, Rev. Edward Janas (Moderator), T. Bochenek, and F. Vainisi. standing are R. Brayer, R. Graziano, B. Hrynewych, F. Pisterzi, A. Parker, V. Racanelli, R. Grember, J. Zielinski, J. Simkowski, and T. Kleinschmidt.

STAMP CLUB

The Stamp Club is one of Weber's unheraldod organizations which, year after year, continues to do an outstanding job. Each member works many hours a week, sorting and packaging cancelled stamps. These stamps are then sold for the benefit of mission societies throughout the United States.

APOSTLESHIP OF PRAYER

Over the past two years, the Apostleship of Prayer has grown to become one of the largest representative groups at Weber, boasting a membership consisting of two thirds of the student body and faculty. In addition, it offers the reward of growing closer to Christ through the recitation of daily prayers and a formal devotion to the Sacred Heart.

Stampers: seated are J. Gasparo, R. Nagler, M. Betlinski, and A. Grzywna. standing are M. Kuczkowski, M. Dunne, W. Kolbusz, R. Stachura, and K. Kozak.

seated: L. Antosz, E. Podrasky, R. Del Ciello, Mr. T. Lisowski (Moderator), G. Dykas, C. Marzec. standing: D. Kreutzer, J. Parrillo, T. Gannon, A. Konopka, R. Panek, K. Kozak, M. Kozlowski, R. Radycki, J. Aniolowski.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Although thought of by many as the "egghead club" of our school, the rules governing the members of the National Honor Society are as demanding of its members as those of any other activity. Each student in the society must exhibit qualities demonstrating not only high scholastic capabilities, but also a strong desire to strive for the growth and development of himself, his school, and his fellow Weberites.

R. Nagler, T. Jakubowski, E. Putera participate in the candle-lighting ceremony, a part of the National Honor Society induction.

THE HERALDERS

The Heralders once again outdid themselves in their annual musical extravaganza. Their tremendous interpretation of WEST SIDE STORY proved to be an exciting and challenging project for all involved.

kneeling: W. Siatt, J. Kurpias, M. Kozlowski, W. Kolbusz. standing: J. Krock, M. Lyng, T. Wodniak, R. Carpenter, T. Wajda, D. Pietrowski.

seated: A. Fedorowski, L. Antosz, Rev. Edwin Zygmunt (Moderator), B. Szczepanski, M. Lehmann. standing: S. Szewczyk, T. Pazur, G. Gorlewski, B. Jung, J. Micheli, A. Kwintiuk, M. Medina.

front row: G. Kredich, Z. Bojka, R. Jarosz, L. Kozien, M. Romz, O. Horodysky. second row: R. Major, K. Davis, R. Olech, T. Trybus, R. Gutowski. third row: J. Logisz, T. Nowicki, P. Skepnek, K. Machynia, E. Doman. fourth row: R. Munaretto, F. Niespodziewanski, P. Wierzbicki, L. Penn, G. Mangialardi, G. Lojkutz.

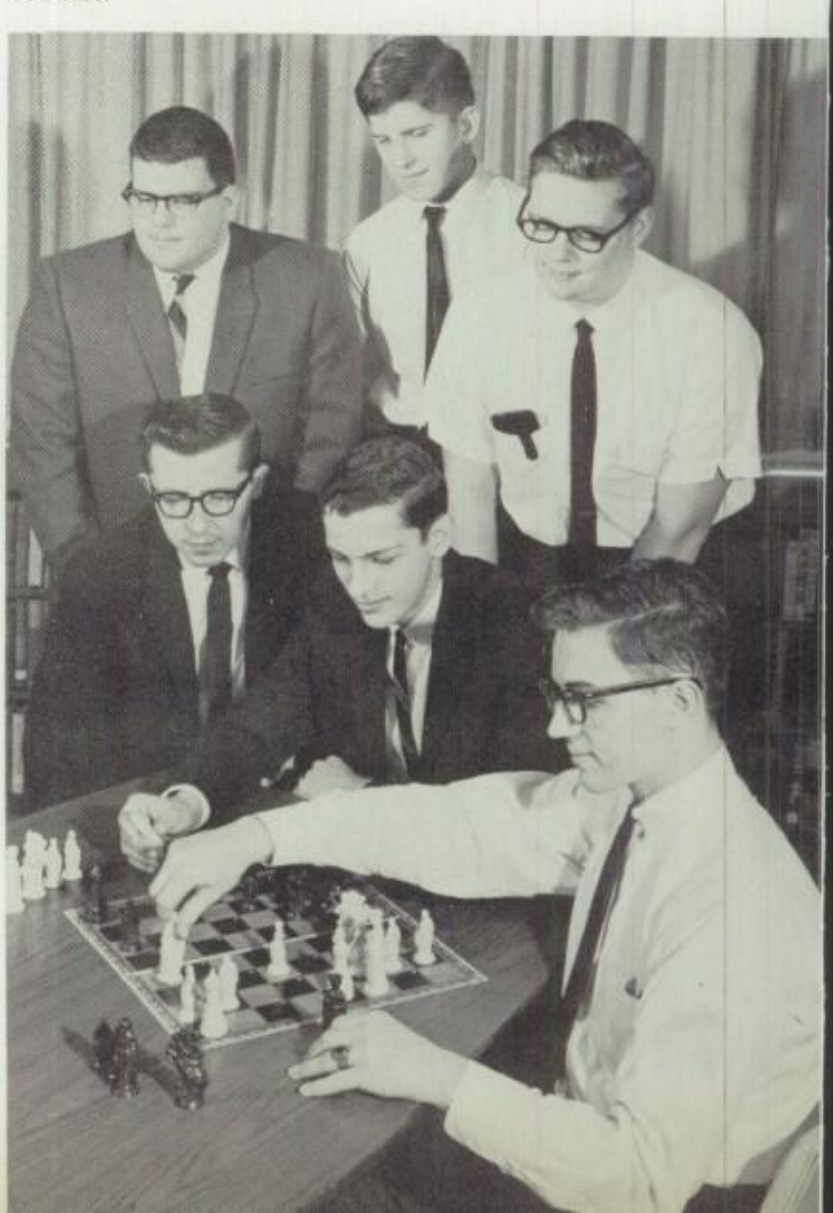
CHESS CLUB

Now in existence at Weber for three years, the Chess Club has reached new heights in popularity. A membership which suprasses all years previous in quantity and quality attests to the Chess Club's high ranking on the list of favorite activities.

LIBRARY CLUB

A library can be only as efficient as the librarians who manage it. Here at Weber, a diligent staff of student librarians maintains peak efficiency in the library at all times. Through their hard work, the Weber library has been recognized as one of the top secondary school libraries in the state.

M. Bryk, J. Witt, J. Mendala, Mr. Williams (Moderator), M. Kozlowski, P. Dirkes.



SCIENCE CLUB

An active Science Club was reorganized this year and was greeted enthusiastically by many future physicists, engineers, and mathematicians eager for a chance to put their ideas into something concrete. Their projects thus far have ranged from a set of walkie-talkies to an ultra-modern laser.

front row: E. Ronan, T. Tarzon, J. Mendala, J. Wielgolewski, J. Gasparo, R. Szeluga, B. Sokolowski. back row: M. Siemplenski, R. Rydelek, J. Szynkarek, L. Ochap, R. Sikorski.

Precision marching and lively music — at the same time!

BAND

Under the guidance of a new director, the band has continued to display its versatility, handling with equal dispatch works of Mozart and works of Mancini. Boosting spirit at a football rally or bringing Weberites a taste of culture at a concert, the naturally talented and excellently trained Bandsmen make their organization a necessary part of Weber life.

GLEE CLUB CHOIR

One of the inroads into cultural advancement at Weber is the Glee Club. With the Alvernia Glee Club, its presentations, at Christmas and in Spring, provided enjoyment and relaxation for all Weberites interested in sophisticated entertainment.

The voices of the Choir ring out in song, praising the Lord each week, inspiring their fellow Weberites at Student Masses. With the advent of the New Liturgy, the Choir has adopted the English translations of the traditional Latin hymns, enabling the entire student body, led by the choir, to join in singing the Mass.

The Robert DeChristopher Chorale on the night of their Christmas Concert.

DEBATE

In its short tenure at Weber, the Debate Club has proven itself to be one of the finest activities available to the students. It provides a valuable outlet for competitive spirit in a field other than athletics. In addition, it gives its members the opportunity to develop industry, orderly thought, presence of mind, and self-confidence.

Our stalwart debaters disembark at Cleveland for the big tourney.

PUBLICITY AND ARTS

The fine and colorful posters which are the work of the publicity and arts club members, have long served to make the student body aware of what's happening, where it's happening, and when its happening around Weber.

CAMERA CLUB

The shutterbug society at Weber provides its members with the opportunity to learn professional techniques of photography and film processing under the skilled guidance of two excellent photogs. The fine work of the club is displayed each time the WEBER NEWS makes use of one of its snapshots.

AUDIO VISUAL

Possibly the most exclusive club in the school is the Audio Visual Club. It plays a vital role in that its members bear the responsibility of caring for and categorizing all the invaluable teaching aids which help so much in the new methods of education.

FRENCH CLUB

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS, composed of junior and senior French students, strives to bring to Weber's Frenchmen a greater appreciation and understanding of France, its history, and its culture. Conducted entirely in French, the meetings of this organization provide the members with an opportunity for practical application of their studies.

SENIOR SOCIAL COMMITTEE

SOCK-HOP COMMITTEE

Easily the most popular social events at Weber are the sock-hops, which weekly attract swinging teens from all parts of the city. A good part of the success of these socials is due to the untiring work of the Senior Social Committee and Sock-Hop Committee members. Their efforts before, during, and after each dance provide the good times for hundreds of sock-hoppers each Sunday.

RED HORDE

The symbol of the spirit and pride of every Weberite, past and present, is the Red Horde Tribe. Its distinctive performances are sparked with energy, imagination, and true Weber enthusiasm. When the tribe "goes on the warpath," all present realize that W eber's opponents must clash with more than just another team.

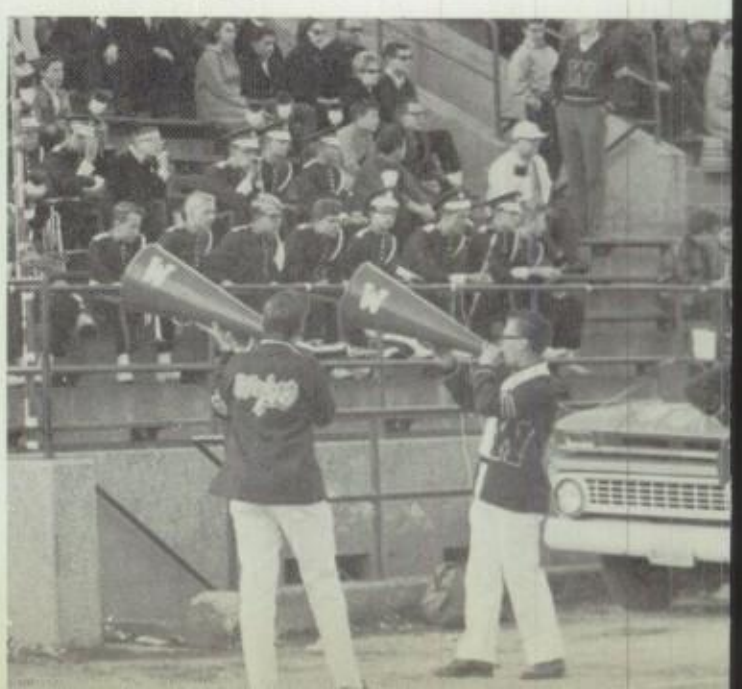
CHEERLEADERS

Weber's Cheerleaders are the cohesive force which unites the swelling waves of fervent exhortations, pleas, and plaudits of the crowd into one big "Go, Weber!" at every Red Horde athletic contest.

"Red Horde! Red Horde!"



Drum major W. Kowalski, C. DiMartino, E. Gross, P. Mazan, C. Lizak, W. Morman, G. Sokolowski, S. Piekunko, J. Przekota, W. Manko.

COLOR GUARD

The apparent ease with which the Color Guard performs, be it before the student body or before a stadium filled with thousands, is the product of hours of daily practice and rigid discipline. In demanding from its members military precision and perfect timing, the Color Guard develops in the guardsmen a sense of teamwork and a respect for the flag.

Sgt. W. Manko, D. Pawelski, D. Soboj, D. Peplenski.

Another of the sterling half-time performances, ably led by the Weber Color Guard.

FATHERS' CLUB

Membership in the Fathers' Club, as such, entails more than token participation, for Weber's dads are as much a part of Weber as their sons. Yearly, the Fathers' Club members take upon themselves the task of organizing and directing the Indoor Carnival and the Saint Joseph's Table, both of which are as enjoyable as they are profitable.

MOTHERS' CLUB

Along with its counterpart the Father's Club, the Weber High School Mothers' Club has again proven itself to be a hard working, diligent, self-sacrificing organization. Their annual Card and Bunco Party, incidentally their most successful yet, highlighted a season of work, work, work--and success.

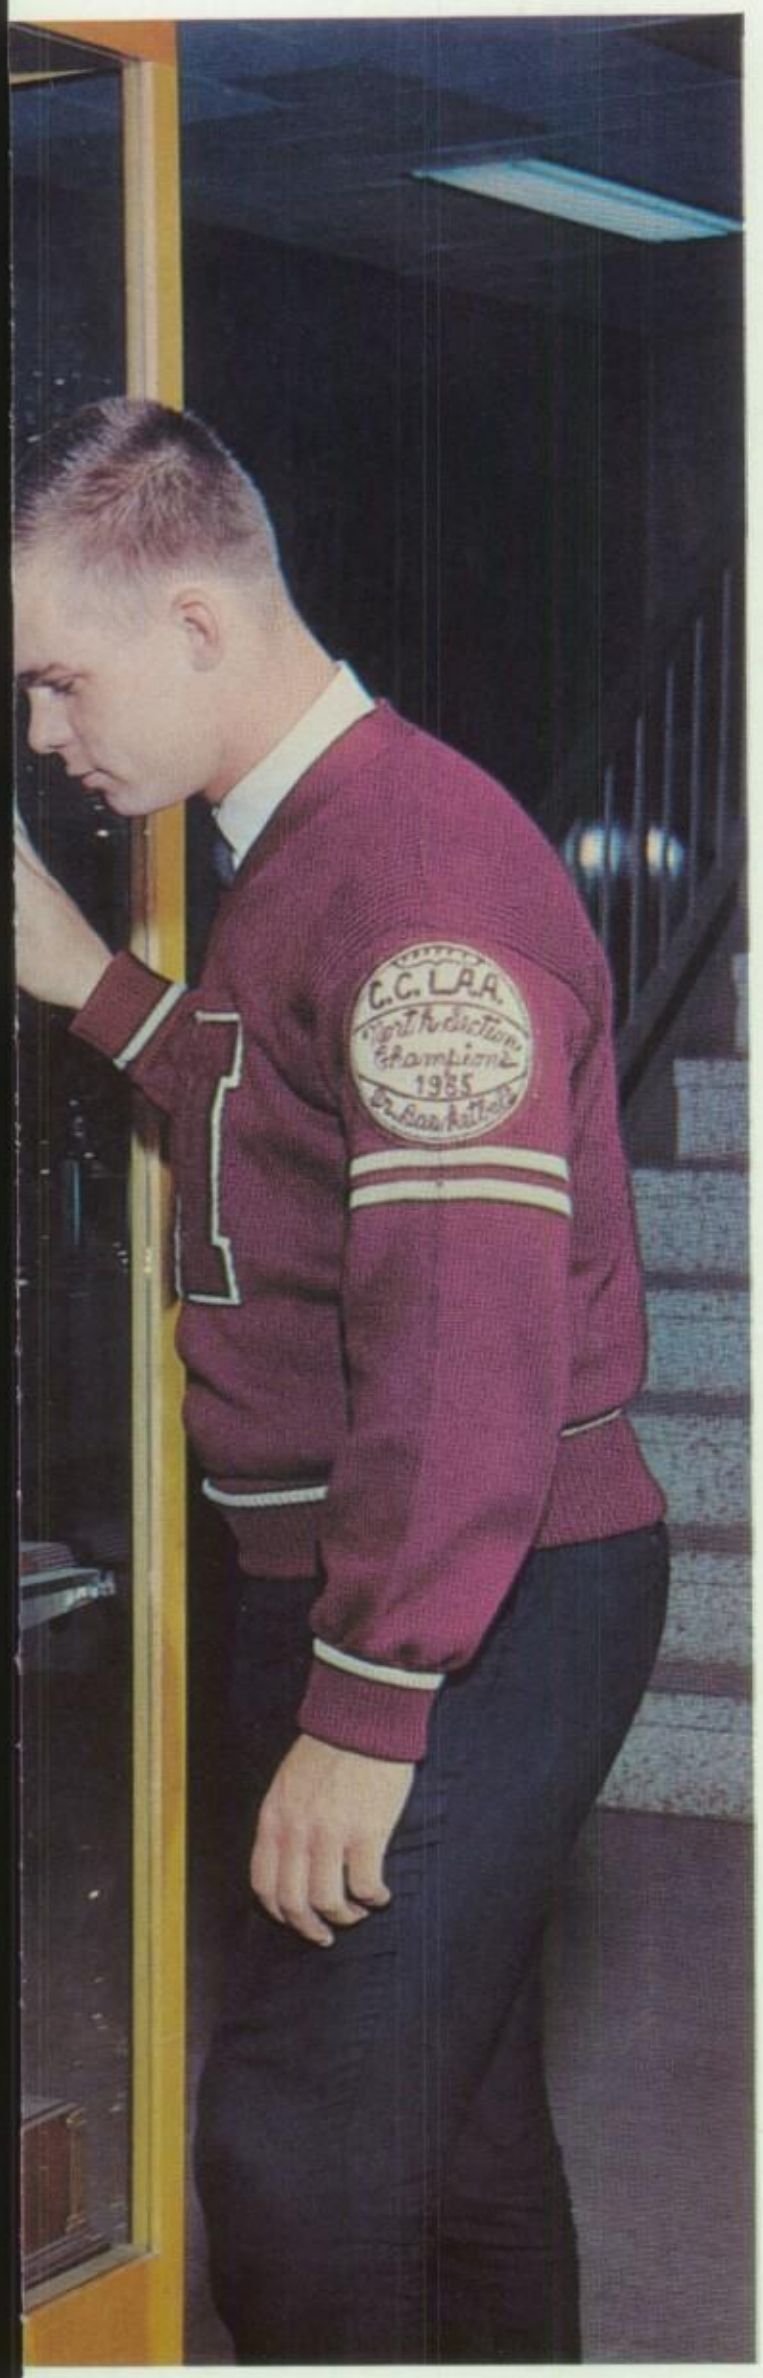
LADIES AUXILIARY

For many years the Weber High Ladies' Auxiliary has unselfishly given tremendous amounts of time and personal effort for the advancement of our school. This year, undoubtedly, has been no exception. As always the annual Card .and Bunco Party, the club's premier event, was a huge success. The turnout rivaled that of any other year in size and enthusiasm.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

One of Weber's oldest and most traditional organizations, the Alumni Association serves to keep all Weberites, old and young, in contact with their Alma Mater. This is achieved most effectively and enthusiastically where alumni and their friends gather, both to hear the latest news and to keep in touch with "the boys."



TO COMPETE

The "Ramblin' Red Horde!" R. Dato cuts through the St. Catherine defense.

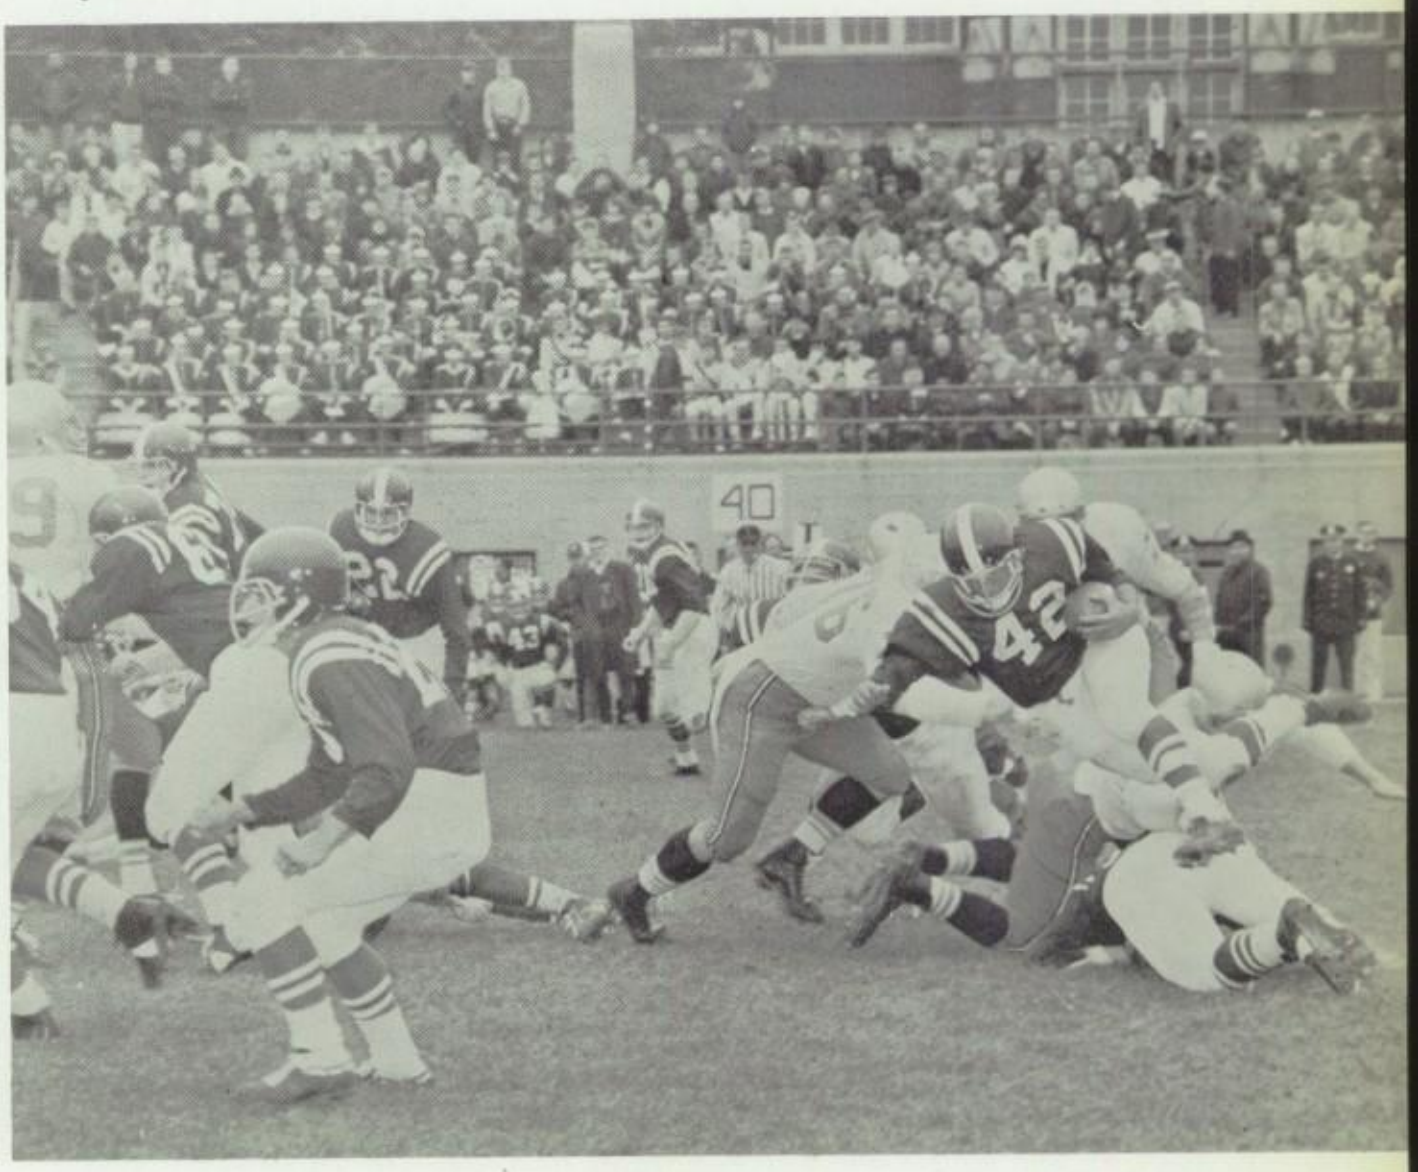
FOOTBALL

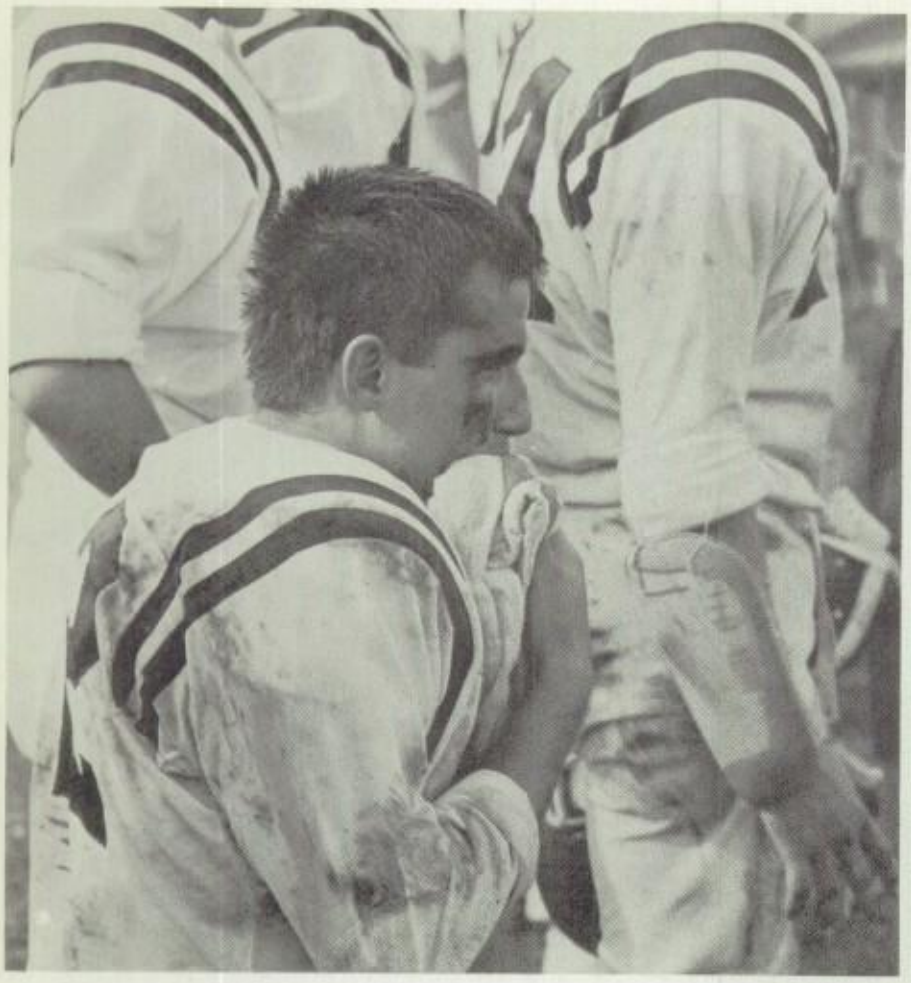
The loss of an entire backfield by graduation can shake up the best of teams. This was the cruel fate which befell our 1965 Red Horde gridders. The team featured one of the most brutal defensive lines in the city and a never-say-die spirit, but even this was not enough to overcome the glaring inexperience of its backfield. However, the season cannot be considered a loss simply because the Championship was not retained. The team provided many thrills and much excitement for its fans all season.

Six points or frustration?

Twenty-two young gladiators prepared to wreak havoc upon each other tensely await the signal to charge.

R. Dato eludes two pursuing Gordon Rams for an instant, but he appears to be headed for an all too quick meeting with Mother Earth.





Is one picture really worth a thousand words? Just ask R. Dato to tell you about this one.

One lone DePaul tackler in a last-ditch effort to stop V. Racanelli's ramble to paydirt.

Weber's vaunted defense, led by J. Luczak and R. Halaj, appears to have cornered some fresh game and is beginning to close in for the kill.

JUNIORS-NORTH SECTION CHAMPS

"Darkhorse contender" was what people began labeling the Weber lights after their somewhat shocking second place finish in the Fenwick Holiday Tournament last December. But to those in the know, especially to Coach Al Ostrowski, this upsurge was anything but a surprise. From the first practice session last fall Coach "Oz" had realized that this was a young, spirited team with tremendous drive, potential, and, most important, heart. This dedicated group of young men displayed all these qualities throughout each and every game of the season. Not once did they let the school or themselves down. Because of their unselfish devotion they were able to bring much honor and praise to all of Weber. Though not "Champs" in name, they are undoubtedly champs in the minds of all their fellow Weberites.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

It was just too little too soon for the Weber Senior cagers this year. An inexperienced team took the court against some of the finest teams the Catholic League has fielded in its history. Gordon Tech, Fenwick, Loyola, and even St. Philip all had outstanding seasons, while Weber was suffering from a shortage of combat hardened veterans. The year was not without its bright spots, however. Our squad boasted an exciting, high-scoring attack centered around one of Weber's all-time greats, Tom Kleinschmidt. Tom's greatest triumph came against Loyola when he erased a six year old single game scoring record by pouring 41 points through the hoop!

Promising sophomore M. Francis is stymied by a couple of Rams on this drive down the lane. T. Kleinschmidt moves in to help.

BOWLING

Coach Ed Dykla, the "winningest coach at Weber", continued his winning ways as his Senior bowlers took the 1966 North Section Catholic Bowling title. In a fierce battle for supremacy with Gordon Tech for top honors, which came right down to the final game for its decision, our bowlers showed their stuff by coming out on top. By winning the North Section championship the Seniors earned the right to contest with Brother Rice for the City Championship.

The junior Bowlers, though not quite as successful as their older counterparts, showed promise of great things to come. They featured a team with only two sophomore members which came in third in their title race. The Juniors can hardly wait 'till next year for their title.

It doesn't take a calculator to tabulate bowling scores, but it does take the combined efforts of C. Puchalla, F. Kubiak, J. Komacki, J. Grodecki, and M. Brandt.

Coach E. Dykla uses every spare moment to fire up his senior bowlers, L. Ortale, B. Kauke, J. Massani, R. Mikulski, and J. Grodecki.

The object of close scrutiny by teammates is the fine form of W. Papciak, a member of Weber's Senior Pinmen.

SWIMMING

You might say that the swimming team is the hard luck champ of the year. Throughout the entire season the team was besieged by some sort of bug which took its toll on each key man at one time or another. Other than at the St. Philip meet (in which the Seniors took second place) the team was never functioning at 100% efficiency. Couple this with the fact that Loyola and Fenwick came up with two of the finest teams in Catholic League history, and it is hard to blame the swimmers for their below-par showing this year.

WRESTLING

The newest inter-school sport at Weber, wrestling, is probably the oldest sport in history. Wrestling was included in the olympic events of the ancient Greeks and Romans even before the time of Christ. Although only in its third year of existence at Weber, the wrestling team has won tremendous popularity as an off season conditioner for footballers and as a healthy hobby for those interested in a different and exciting activity.

As early as the frigid months of February and March the crew team has its shell in the water in preparation for the grueling season ahead.

CREW

There are only two high school crew teams in the Chicagoland area, and, of course, Weber is the proud owner of one of them. Our crewmen row against top-notch crew teams from all over the Midwest and handle them all with equal dispatch. In fact, our reputation as a crew power has grown to such proportions that it is becoming harder and harder just to find someone who isn't afraid to row against us.

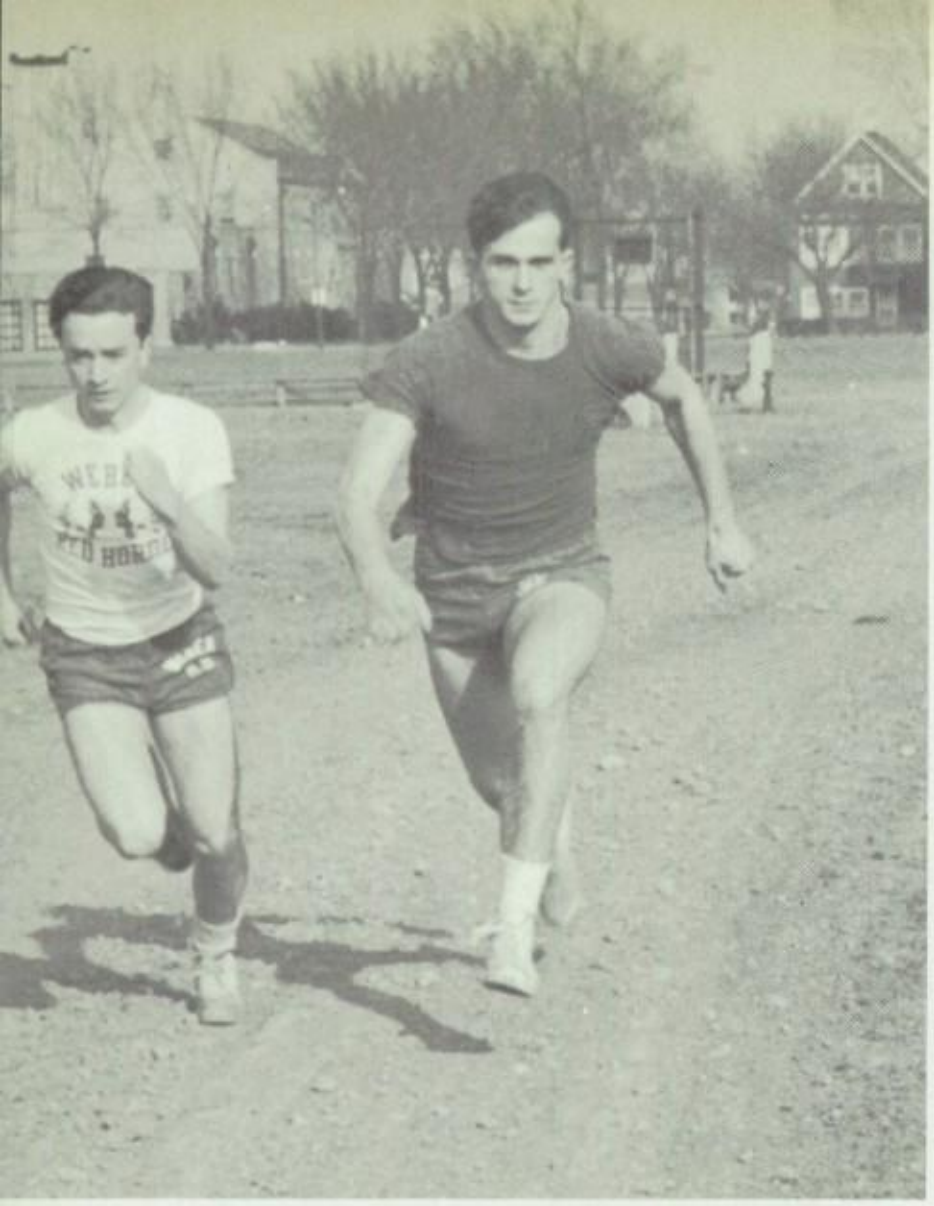
R. Beda is setting his sights high: a Catholic League title.



The first signs of Spring around Weber bring out the Spring sports enthusiasts whose talents have for so many months lay dormant. One of the most popular sports at this time of the year is track, which this year is under the direction of a new head coach, Mr. William Carsley. Enthusiasm is high concerning the prospects for a successful season. The teams main strength lies in its middle distance runners, mile relay team, and vaulters. The team placed well in practice meets and looked like it was off and "running" toward a fine season.

BASEBALL

"Take me out to the ballgame!" is the cry voiced by millions of rabid fans of our National Pastime each year as spring roles around. Here at Weber baseball fever strikes early. Indoor practice begins in February, giving way to outdoor workouts as soon as the weather permits. This year's Weber Nine, though somewhat shy on experience, combines speed and desire to produce a finished product which promises to make every game it plays interesting and exciting.

Juniors Joseph Bachewicz and James Pohoski receive the Grand Award from Mr. Zapszalka for their project "Effect of Radiation on the Heredity of Fruit Flies."

BAND CONCERT

L. Mroczek solos on the clarinet.

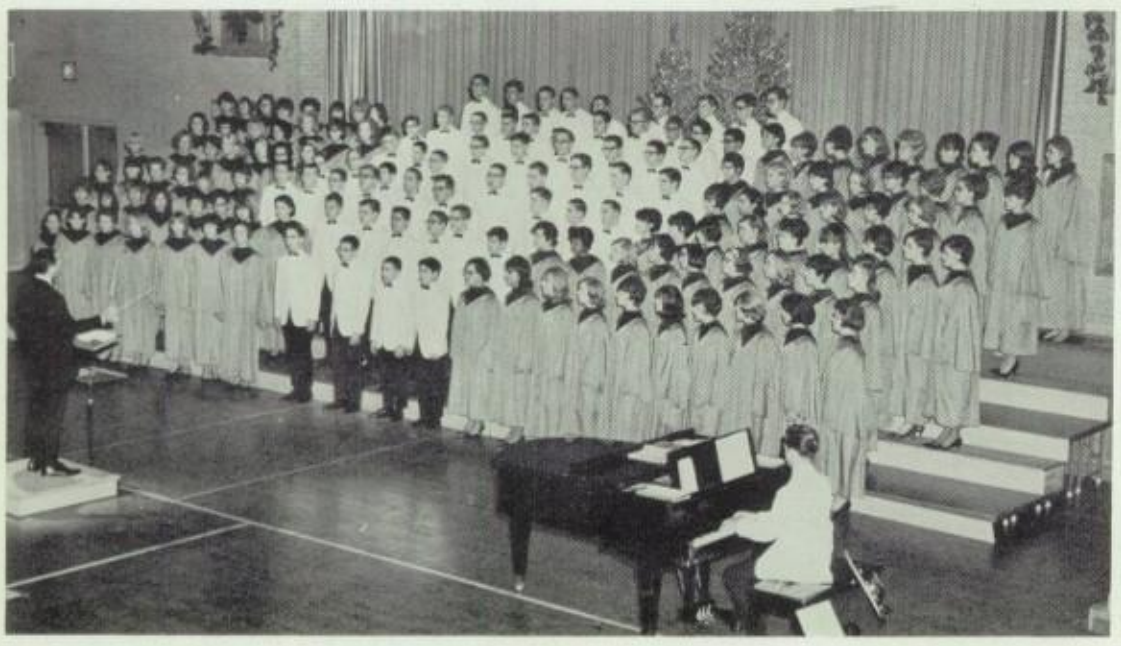
Piano accompaniment courtesy of Mr. De Christopher

Mr. Hegebarth conducts the Weber Band in its first classical concert of the year.

The lights dim, and Mr. De Christopher readies his chorus.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The FOUR OF US from Alvernia make their third appearance at Weber.



The Weber-Alvernia Mixed Chorus, accompanied by Mike Ward, sing of Christmas.

Take it from the top.

. . . .eating their Christmas pie. . . .

"Try the potato salad."

MOTHERS' CLUB CHRISTMAS PARTY

The mothers display their handicraft.

The radiant grins apparent on the countanences of these chaps attest to the euphoric influence of the Father's Club Carnival.

FATHERS' CLUB CARNIVAL

"I wonder if it's fixed?"

The loot.

"What'll you give me for an alligator?"

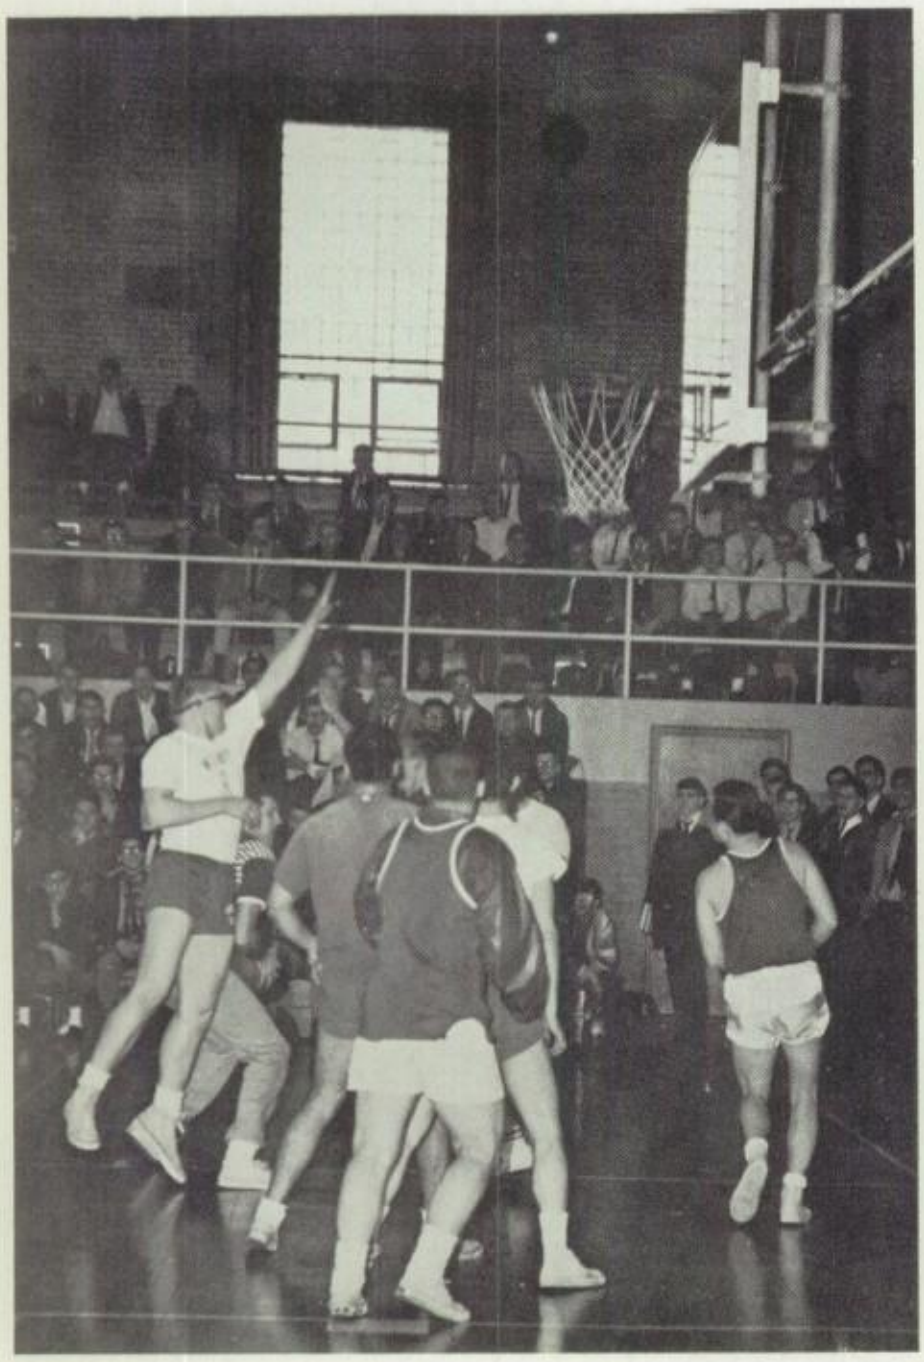
FACULTY GAME

"The annual farce in which the senior class attempts to beat the star-studded Faculty All-Stars occurred again this year. As usual, the foolish seniors were repelled by a thirty-six point margin–proving once more that never do so many look so bad against so few."

Coach "Oz"

O.K., now that I've got it, what do I do with it?

Look! Up in the sky. . .



Do you think it will come down?

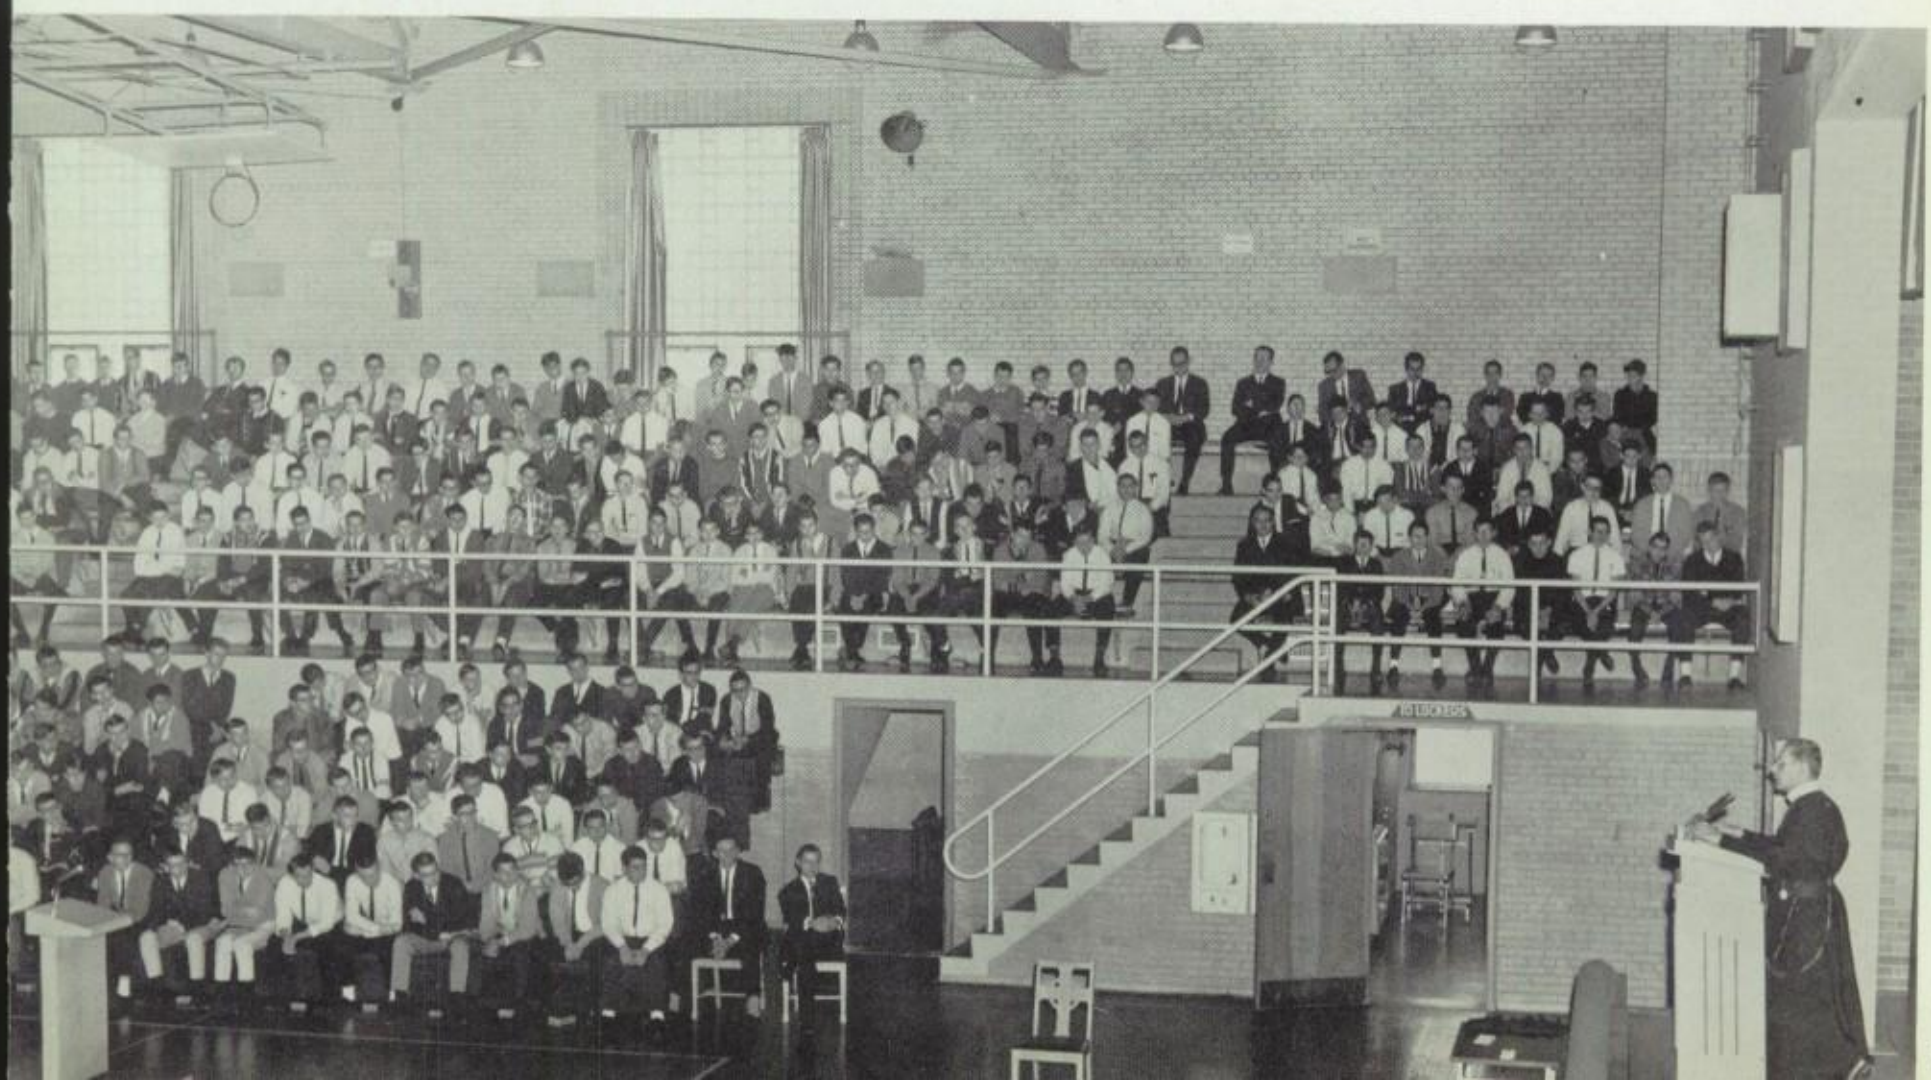
The faculty and seniors have a dinky time.

RETREAT

"Bless me, Father. . ."

Rev. Carl Schwarz C.S.S.R. addresses the underclassmen.

Fr. Schwarz succeeds in making everyone think.



The rumble

M. Dent, Mr. Robert De Christopher, J. Luczak, and Mr. Lee Brownlee discuss the musical score.

Tony (J. Luczak) and Maria (Corinne Marrone) sing Tonight on Maria's balcony.

The Cast

WEST SIDE STORY

Weber's Heralders very successfully presented the popular Broadway musical WEST SIDE STORY on the evenings of March 30 through April 2, and April 15 through April 17. Leonard Bernstein's brilliant musical score, played by an eighteen piece orchestra directed by Mr. Robert De Christopher, and the complex dance numbers, choreographed by Mr. Lee Brownlee, made WEST SIDE STORY a rewarding, but challenging, production. Weber's presentation of the modern version of ROMEO AND JULIET, the first in the Chicago area on the high school level, was well worth the enthusiasm it received.

D. Mele, P. Losinski, B. Montesano, and P. Fredericksen rehearse in the bridal shop.

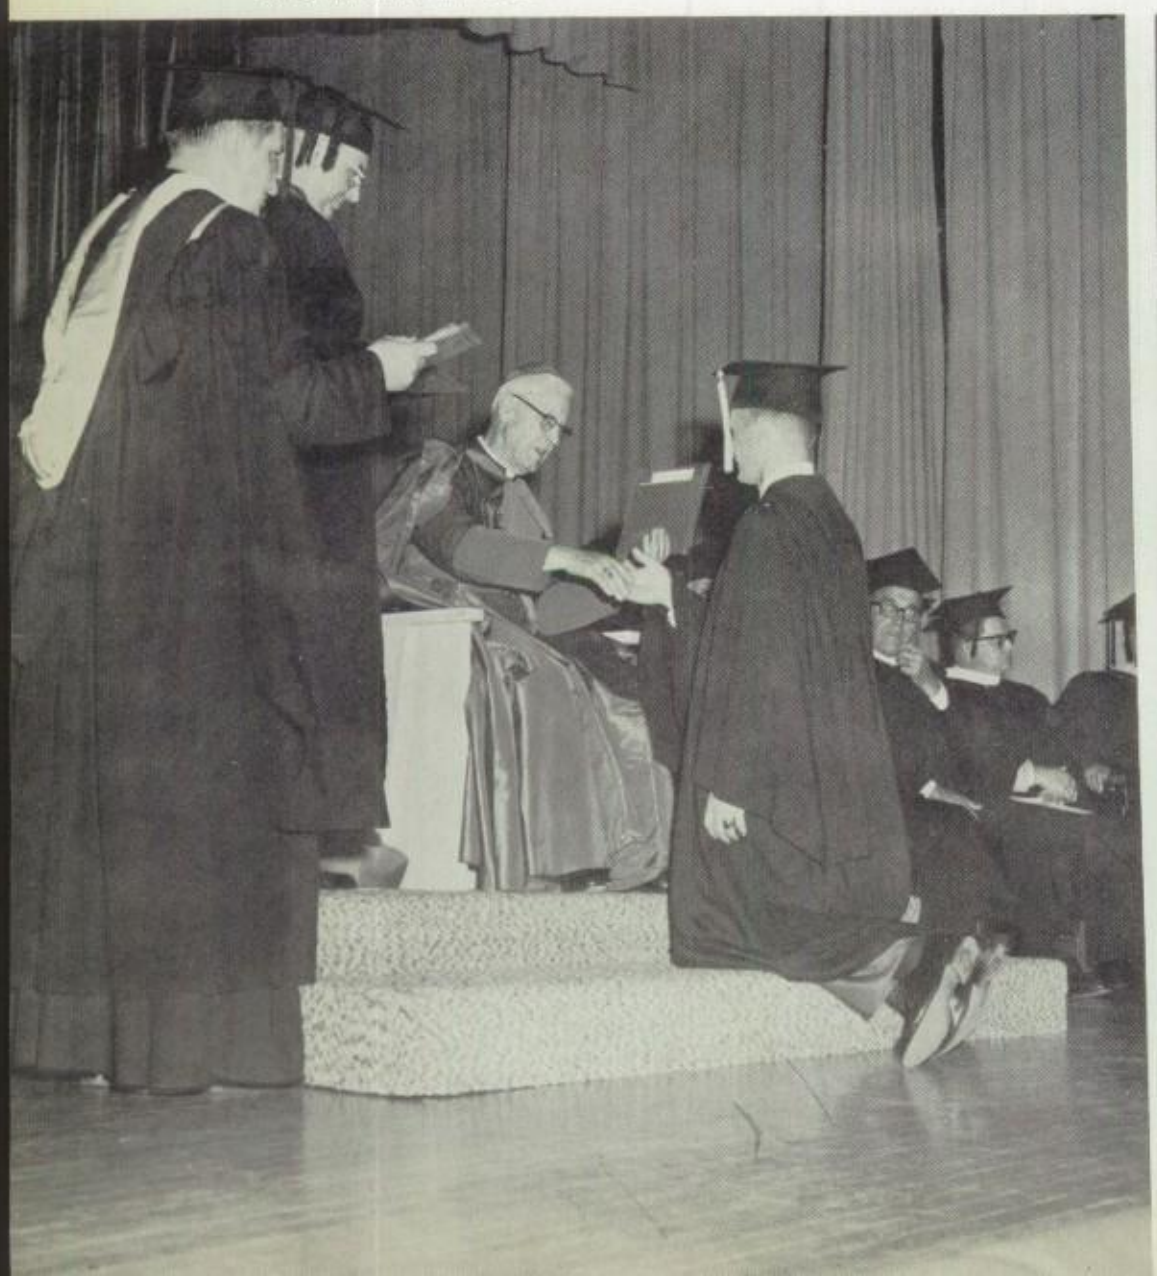
GRADUATION
1965

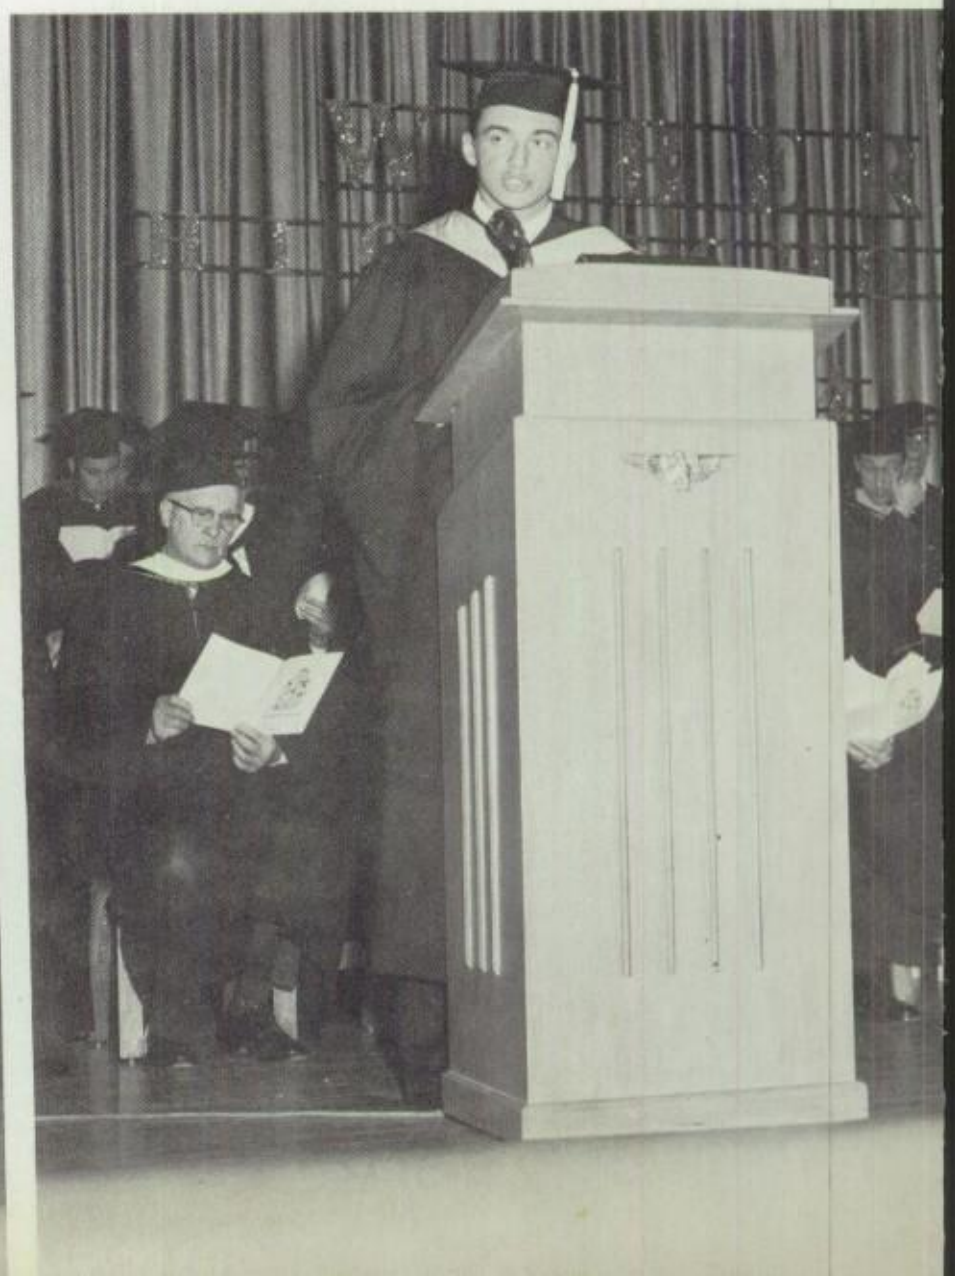
The Most Reverend Robert S. Dehler celebrates the graduates' last Mass at Weber.

The Junior Honor Guard preceeds the Diamond Jubilee Class into church.

Senior Class President Richard (Chico) Kurzawski expounds.

Congratulations, Mr. Horacz





St. Joseph's Table

Mr. Novak
